

Getting the Edge

We all play well – so how can you be sure it'll be YOU that gets the call?

In this fascinating talk, Pete Cook explores the subtleties of how we communicate with our colleagues, employers, and most importantly, our audience – an invaluable lesson for any performer who wants to get the edge in an increasingly competitive industry.

Pete Cook is Head of Jazz at London College of Music, author of Road Rat's Tips and has 20+ years of experience behind him as a journeyman professional musician.

Date, time & venue: